On behalf of the Hong Kong Baseball Association, I would like to extend a warm welcome to all players, coaches and officials of the participating teams to the “Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup” Hong Kong International Women’s Baseball Tournament 2008.

2008 is a very special year for us – not only because it is our 15th Anniversary, but it also marks the debut women’s baseball tournament held in Hong Kong. We trust this event will provide a good opportunity for women baseball players to broaden their life horizon and lift their baseball standards.

This “Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup” has the participation of more than a hundred women players from six countries and regions, namely, Australia, Japan, Korea, Taiwan, North America and Hong Kong. I wish they would play with their best standards and make good friends in Hong Kong.

Taking this opportunity, I would like to thank IDT International Limited for lending its brand name, Oregon Scientific, to title-sponsor this tournament. I would also like to thank the volunteer workers and my colleagues in the Association for their hard work to make this tournament happen.

Enjoy the games and enjoy your stay in Hong Kong.

Foreword

“Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup” Hong Kong International Women’s Baseball Tournament 2008 starts off a series of celebrating events for the 15th Anniversary of the Hong Kong Baseball Association (the “HKBA”).

“Girls playing baseball?!” is the exclamatory expression made by some people. Yes, the fact is that there are more and more young girls and women playing baseball in Hong Kong. Besides playing ball, they also actively promote baseball to schools and districts. Baseball is no longer a man’s monopoly sport.

With the establishment of the HKBA 15 years ago, baseball in Hong Kong entered a new era of development; the HKBA launched training programs for children and adults in different districts, established its umpire academy and coach training programs to bring out hundreds of qualified umpires and coaches, organized local leagues for different age groups and genders, hosted regional games and participated in regional and international games. To upgrade the standard of players, the HKBA has spent a lot of efforts and resources to squad training for different age-group players. The Hong Kong Men’s Team comprises players with over 20 years of playing experience, players with sport talent and players receiving good training abroad. Having committed so much of their time and energy to baseball, the Hong Kong Men’s Team achieved rewarding results over the past few years, including its entrance into the Final Week of the China National Games 2005, winning the first runner-up in the Asia Cup 2006 and achieving the “entrance ticket” to play in the Asia Pacific Qualifying Game for the Beijing Olympic 2008, the Asian Championship 2007, endorsed by International Baseball Federation of which the HKBA is a member.

Hong Kong is a forerunner in the women’s baseball world. The Hong Kong Women’s Team is up and running. It participated in the Baseball World Series 2004, the Women’s Baseball World Cup 2006 and the regional invitational games. The “Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup” was initiated by the players of the Hong Kong Women’s Team and supported by the HKBA. It is very kind of Dr. Raymond Chan, Chairman and CEO of IDT International Limited, who agreed to lend its company’s brand name, Oregon Scientific, to title-sponsor this international baseball event. Oregon Scientific is a famous international brand name for consumer electronic life style products, selling widely in USA, Europe, Asia, Australia and South America, a truly international name matching this international baseball tournament.

This year is a historical year for China and for Hong Kong. China is hosting the Olympic Game 2008 this August in Beijing and Hong Kong is co-hosting the Olympic Equestrian event. To the HKBA, this year, its 15th anniversary, is a busy year. After the “Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup”, comes the Baseball Federation of Asia (BFA) “A” Asia Pacific Youth Baseball Tournament 2008.

The baseball population is growing in Hong Kong and all over the world. We are confident that baseball will firmly become a popular event in the Olympic Games. Let’s play baseball.

SUNRISE has 30 regular members including two Japanese and a transsexual.

SUNRISE has earned the first international experience at the 4th Women's World Series 2004 held in Japan although the result was not as good as to proudly tell. This year, SUNRISE ranked the 3rd at 2007 KBO (Korea Baseball Organization) presidential cup and won the semifinals at 2007 WBAK (Women Baseball Association Korea) presidential cup.

SUNRISE's goal is to boost women's baseball and to play baseball for serious fun.

Team Introduction: Allies, HONG KONG

Allies was formed in Aug 2007 in order to prepare for the first international women's baseball tournament hosted by HKBA in Hong Kong. Most Allies teammates had participated in the 4th Women's Baseball World Series held in Japan in 2004 and the 2nd Women's Baseball World Cup held in Taiwan in 2006. Being the delegates of the Allies for the forthcoming "Oregon Scientific Phoenix Cup" Hong Kong International Women's Baseball Tournament 2008, we are very honored to have the opportunity to play with the elite women's baseball teams from Asia-Pacific and North America regions. We sincerely thank the tournament's title-sponsor, Oregon Scientific, and the Hong Kong Baseball Association for their tremendous supports in making the event successful. We believe this would be a brand new page in the history of international women's baseball.

Allies隊於2007年8月為應香港棒球總會為舉辦此次國際女子棒球錦標賽成立。Allies隊大部份成員曾參加2004年於日本舉辦的第四屆女子棒球世界賽及2006年於台灣舉辦的第二屆世界盃女子棒球錦標賽。作為Allies隊成員，我們非常榮幸能有機會在香港與來自亞太區及北美區的優秀女子棒球隊切磋球技。我們衷心感謝Oregon Scientific及香港棒球總會的全力支持，令香港成功舉辦此項國際性比賽，也為國際女子棒球發展開啟新一頁。
